

Figure 1. Residual flooding of urban lands during the regional storm event following full implementation of the Don Mouth Naturalization Project. The BEFP project study area is outlined in red within the inset map (top right). Note that the blue shading on the western side of the river is designed to hold water (it is the ‘wet side’ of a flood protection landform at Corktown Common).